

Alarm Clock - Prototype 1

This is the first prototype of the Alarm Clock Project. It is currently hooked up to a doorbell chime. This demos the user interaction style with the rotary encoder. The 5-digit number on the top line is for debugging - it represents the time of day expressed in total seconds elapsed since midnight.